QUICK SWITCH INSTALLATION CONSIDERATIONS

Through our product testing and feedback from various end users and installers in the field, we have found there to be several issues to consider when installing the Quick Switch. If you choose to use the Quick Switch on your property, we strongly recommend that it be installed to manufacturer specifications with very exacting standards and be tested fully. In any case, PTI cannot ensure the operation of the Quick Switch due to issues that are outside of our control. Should you decide to purchase Quick Switch door contacts for your property, PTI does not provide any type of warranty or guaranty on the product or the installation in any circumstances. All potential warranty and installation issues must be directed to Quick Switch. If you have any questions about the Quick Switch door contact or any other door switch, or if you would like PTI to recommend a switch for your property; please contact PTI Business Development Department by telephone at (800) 331-6224 or by email at sales@ptiaccess.com.

The items that are reported to affect the performance of the Quick Switch and in turn the PTI Door Alarm System they are connected to are as follows:

1. The straightness and quality of the roll-up door guides. Guides that are twisted or out-of-square interfere with the performance of the Quick Switch.
2. The slide latch throw depth must extend deeply enough to penetrate the switch fully. Some do not extend long enough to completely penetrate the switch.
3. Normal settling and expansion/contraction of the building materials can cause issues over time with the first two issues above.
4. The slide latch is sometimes made of materials that will not activate the Quick Switch.
5. The slide latch sometimes is not wide enough to activate the Quick Switch.

----- Sign below only if you decide to purchase the Quick Switch for use with a PTI Door Alarm System -----

I have read the above information and understand that PTI does not warranty or guaranty the installation or operation of the Quick Switch door contact even if PTI is contracted to sell and/or install it. PTI will not be held liable for any issues resulting from the installation, performance, or operation of the Quick Switch door contact.
