

DOOR SECURITY

Individual unit security is a crucial component of a comprehensive security strategy. Give your tenants peace of mind and distinguish yourself as a best-in-class self-storage operation with PTI's upgraded door security solutions.

DOOR ALARMS

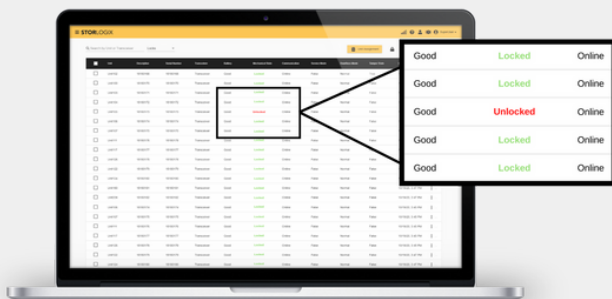

PTI Door Alarms help improve individual unit security by adding the ability to track and respond to activity at a unit level. There are two types of door alarms, hard-wired and wireless. Keep reading to discover which solution is the best fit for you.

WIRELESS

Without the need to alter or replace existing infrastructure, wireless door alarms are ideal for retrofitting existing sites. These alarm systems have a quick and easy installation, making them perfect for facilities that also plan to expand in the future.

HARD-WIRED

Hard-wired door alarms are a reliable and cost-effective solution for your security system. The simplicity of installation makes wired door alarms easy to integrate into new construction and is a preferred choice for large-scale self-storage sites.

BONUS FEATURE

With PTI Door Alarms, operators can extend their security beyond the perimeter with the ability to review activity logs for individual unit activity with door alarms in addition to perimeter security logs with keypads.